Here You Will Find That Home

THE homes shown in this book represent a very exclusive selection. While they are widely different in appearance and design, they are all alike in one respect—every one is a real home that combines architectural beauty with the greatest measure of convenience and comfort.

With such a variety of styles to choose from, with so many attractive combinations of materials, and exterior treatments, with such a wide range of interior fittings and other details, we believe you will find that home—just the kind of a home you have in mind.

Then, too, there are helpful suggestions for modernizing and improving your present home to bring it up-to-date—make it more comfortable and convenient.

A set of accurate plans for each house shown has been carefully prepared by competent architects—men who are specializing in small house design and construction. Careful thought has been given to building costs without overlooking anything in the way of comfort and convenience.

You may have some ideas that you wish to incorporate in the house you select. Perhaps a rearrangement of rooms, special features added, or something of that sort. Changing the plans to meet your ideas is done by competent architects, at a small cost and requires only a few days' time.

We will appreciate the opportunity of helping you—gladly give you complete information concerning material and labor costs, the approximate time required to complete the building, and other data that may interest you.

Feel perfectly free to consult with us—it does not obligate you in any way. We can be very useful to you in many ways. And, our knowledge of materials and thorough experience will prove exceedingly helpful.

We help you avoid waste of time and labor by delivering material promptly and carefully—we are rather proud of our service that will free you from unnecessary delays.

Call and see us—phone or write. An appointment can be made that will entirely suit your convenience.

Good House Plans Will Include a Really Modern Bathroom

PERHAPS you've noticed that, of all the rooms in a house, none shows use so quickly as the bathroom,—because, after all, it is the most used room in the house. Sanitation and economy are served by installing only the best and most modern equipment in the bathroom—and whether it's a new home or an old one to be remodelled, you will find that there will be less work, the bathroom will look well, and will be more convenient, if the fixtures are of the modern type which combine beauty and convenience in equal measure.

The First Step In Good Building Is Accurate Plans

HOMES are built that families may live in happiness and comfort. No matter how modest or palatial a home may be, it must be well planned and carefully built, it must offer the utmost in convenience and comfort, it must be attractive—or it is merely a building—not a home.

Good homes must be started right and correctly drawn plans, made from good designs, are absolutely essential if construction is to be all that it should be.

We recommend the use of accurate, carefully made blueprint working plans. Plans prepared by skilled architects and carefully trained draftsmen. Men, whose broad experience and thorough knowledge of building design and construction, and with years of specializing in small house design, enables them to produce plans that are simple and easily understood yet thoroughly adequate in every way.

Plans are available for every house in this book and their use eliminates any guesswork.

Dimensions, sizes, details and directions are completely and accurately given. Figures clearly show that sizes of all lumber, beams, footings, masonry walls, etc., are of sufficient size to safely carry loads and withstand the stresses put upon them.

Floor plans for any house shown can be reversed so that the house can be placed to any exposure desired.

Remember, our service is unusually complete. Ask us for particulars concerning any detail.

Insulation keeps the heat indoors in winter—and outdoors in summer.

One important part of your building plan---

INSULATION

You may have the finest heating plant, with thermostatic heat control and plenty of radiators in every room. But, you're losing comfort and wasting money if your house is not insulated against the cold.

It has been proven that a well insulated house uses 25% less fuel and provides 50% more comfort than a house not insulated.

Insulation can be added after your house is up, but for best results you should plan for thorough insulation at the time of building.

Solving the insulation problem to attain the best all-round results requires the services of an expert. We have made a careful study and analysis of insulation problems and materials. Consult us freely.

Vines, shrubs, trees, flowers, a fine lawn--imagine this house without them!

Place your new home in a proper setting

Houses, like jewels, need proper settings to show them off to best advantage.

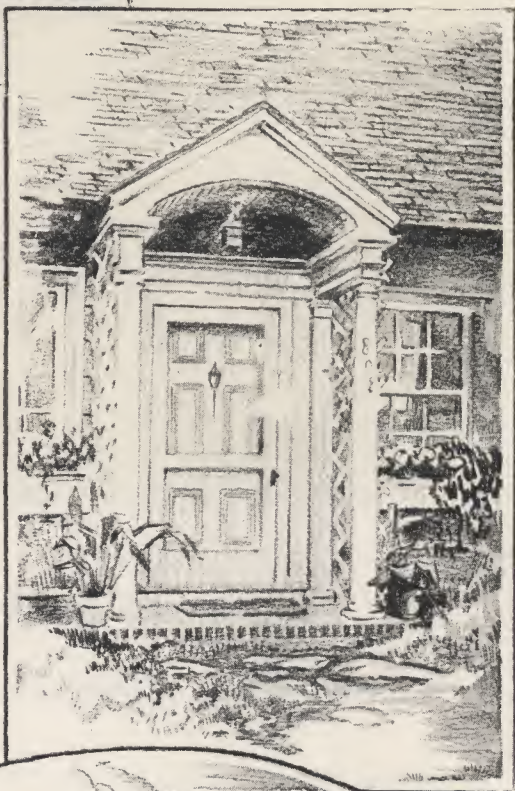

Your house should be surrounded by a fine lawn. You should have trees for shade and trees for beauty. Shrubbery, vines and flowers add to your property the final decorative touch.

Trellis is important—you need one or more of them to support trailing vines and climbing roses.

Window boxes provide for colorful spots of flowers, upstairs and down.

There are many styles and designs of fence, gateways, arbors and other landscaping equipment to select from.

Give your garden the same thoughtful planning that you give to your house, and the materials used in its construction.

MODERNIZING makes

Attractive Useful Rooms Out of Wasted Attic and Basement Space

Up under the rafters, your old attic takes on a new beauty and usefulness when modernized. Where cobwebs and dust gathered around forgotten trunks and discarded furniture, you can have an extra cozy bedroom with its own bath and lavatory, the walls and raftered ceiling finished to harmonize with modern fixtures and furnishings.

Your basement is certainly large enough to accommodate a recreation room for grown-ups and children. A complete room shut off from coal bins and furnace, if you wish, or arranged to accommodate a modern attractively designed, efficient, trouble-free sootless heating unit.

Modernizing makes a world of difference—gives you additional rooms to live in and adds value to the house. Beauty, comfort and convenience pay for themselves.

We'll show you how modernizing will transform your old house into a new style home, with no more wasted space, no more discomforts and inconveniences. And, the financing can be easily arranged for.

Why not plan a play room for the children?

When you get right down to considering the actual facts, children constitute a very important part of the family circle—often the majority of the family—so why shouldn't they have a room all their own?

It can always be the kind of room that is readily converted to other uses after the little folks grow up. Here's a picture showing what you can do with a room 7x11 feet.

Big closets in the wall for toys and the children's own possessions. Big strong hinges on the doors in case a lively boy takes to "swinging."

Plenty of wall space for maps and pictures and blackboard. Wallpaper designed especially to appeal to youthful imagination.

A warm carpet, tucked up tight against the base-boards to prevent drafts. Weather-stripping in the windows—storm sash for winter and screens for summer. Every protection for the sake of health and comfort.

A half door, into the adjoining room, keeps little tots confined without feeling "shut-in" and gives mother every opportunity to glance in frequently without disturbing their play.

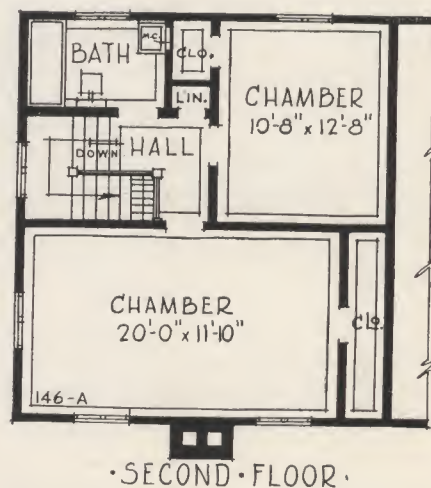

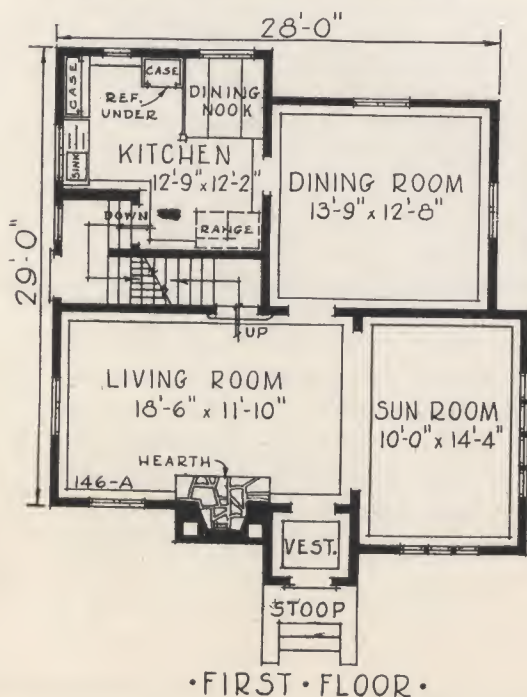

In some households, the playroom is on the third floor, under the eaves. In others it is downstairs where mother spends most of the day. Every home should have its playroom, somewhere. Let us help you plan such a room for the kiddies that are so dear to your heart.

Design your garage to harmonize with the house

We can supply you with plans and specifications for a one or two-car garage to harmonize with any house in this book.

How much better it is to have your garage look like the house than to have it appear to be a hasty after-thought, added to the property at the last minute.

Your garage should be a definite part of the picture that passersby see from the street—not an ugly addition to the back yard.

To have both house and garage designed in the same style adds to the value of your home property. And the cost of an attractive garage is seldom more than the cost of “any-old-kind-of-garage”.

Your front door must have PERSONALITY

The front entrance should be in keeping with the architectural style of the home. At the same time, it should reflect the personality of the people who live within. You want visitors to be impressed with the dignity of your home and with the cordiality of your friendship. At the front door, before they enter, the first impressions are received. Be sure these first impressions are correct. Select your front entrance with the greatest care.

You can select almost any kind of entrance without any appreciable addition to the cost of building. There is a wide variety of standard designs for you to choose from—frames, lattices, doors, arches, columns, balustrades. Pay particular attention to your door hardware and to the possibility of adding a well-placed lighting fixture to the ensemble. These little details, carefully chosen, make a great difference in the appearance of the whole house.

Consult us freely; we can meet every individual taste and requirement.

*Beautiful
glistening woodwork
makes housework a pleasure*

FLOORS, doors, window sills, stairs and balustrades of beautiful, glistening woodwork are a joy to the housekeeper. Woodwork is so easy to clean and can be kept spick and span with very little effort.

Your choice of woods for inside the home is practically limitless. Many of the hard and soft woods possess exclusive, distinctive features of grain and finish. Some are particularly suited to wax finish, others to stain and varnish.

No part of the home can possibly be more important than its woodwork. Select yours with care.

A summer delight. and a winter comfort!

That's what a big veranda can be—screened, a delight in summer; glassed, a comfort in winter.

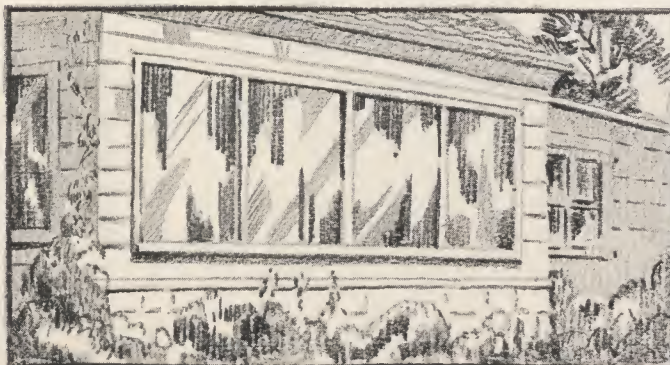

Sometimes an attractive porch is constructed of materials quite different from the rest of the house. We have built delightful brick porches on stucco and frame homes; charming frame verandas on brick and stucco houses.

In every case, the porch or veranda provides the equivalent of an extra room. It can be attractively furnished—screened and electrically lighted to serve as a cool living room in summer; glassed in and heated, a cozy, cheerful place to sit when winter comes.

Many homes have an extra porch for sleeping the year 'round—and still another off the dining room or kitchen, which serves as a convenient breakfast nook and children's playroom.

Plan your porches when you plan your home.

THERE is a lot of living comfort in this dainty little home. The exterior is unusually attractive—the interior arrangement both practical and convenient.

Artistic pergolas and garden seats beautify the yard.

Under the stairs plenty of room for golf clubs, tennis racquets, lap robes and out-door clothes of the whole family and of visiting friends. Note electric light just inside the door.

Double closet for large double bedroom—one for each occupant of the room.

Note the pull-out drawer for shoes and slippers and the adjustable hanger-rack. Plenty of room and convenience here.

More and bigger clothes closets

Every woman knows the importance of clothes closets. Every home owner decides: "The next house we build will have more of them, and bigger ones!" Nothing tries the patience so much as a dark, crowded, old-fashioned clothes closet. Up-to-date homes have the modern kind. A few of the many available types of convenient closets are illustrated here.

A linen closet off the dining room, with plenty of shelves and drawers.

Linen closet with roomy shelves to hold towels, sheets, pillow slips, bed spreads and blankets.

A special kitchen closet, designed for brooms, mops, vacuum cleaner and ironing board.

SUGGESTIONS

for your dining room

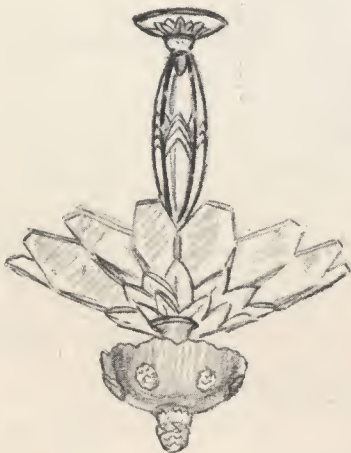

Attractive formal fireplace and mantel with built-in china cabinets, linen drawers and cupboards.

A breakfast nook adjoining the dining room or kitchen saves many steps and much unnecessary work in serving informal meals.

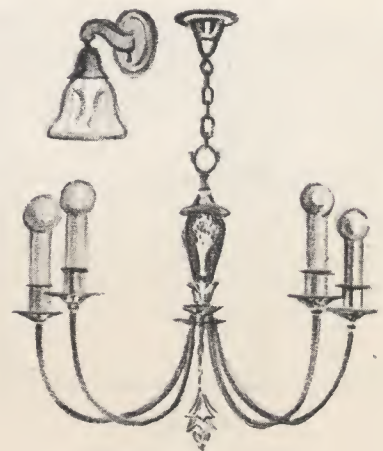

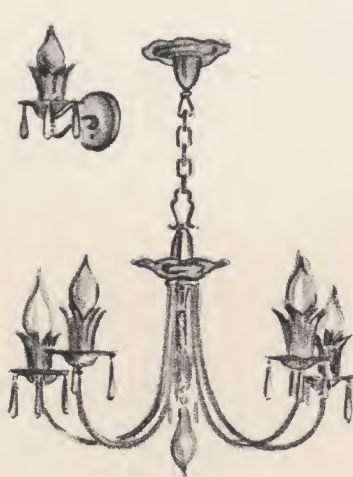

This is a popular type built-in buffet and sideboard.

Lighting the dining room is important: you can express your own individuality in selecting your lighting fixtures.

Showing a 24-inch amber art glass shade . . . should hang 24 inches above table.

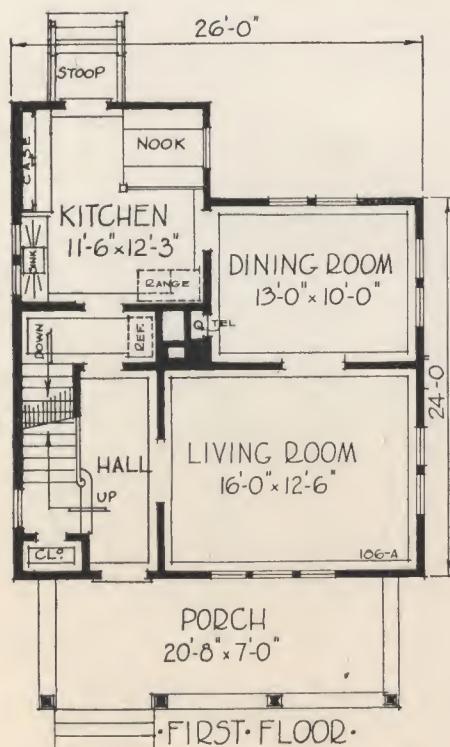

Chandelier over dining table and wall bracket fixtures should harmonize in design. Here are two popular types. There are hundreds of other designs to select from.
